

Book Swap

Alderbury Book Swap is a new resource for the village. It is located in the old telephone box at the junction of Claredon Road. It works on a system of good will but please feel free to borrow books from the library and return when you have finished. If you have books that you are finished with, why not add them to the library.

The library is not managed so if there are books on the floor, please can we ask residents to replace them and keep the place looking tidy.

The Parish Council have started the scheme, painted the phone box and cleaned the windows and now it is down to all of us to make this work.
